Match Education is a leader in K-12 education and teacher preparation, committed to being a source of innovation in education nationwide and delivering extraordinary results for the students they serve.

Match needed to establish a nationwide, major-agnostic pipeline of teaching talent that could outpace industry churn, while prioritizing recruits from underrepresented backgrounds that reflects the diversity of Match's student body itself.

Challenges

Looking to identify talent from across the country and the academic spectrum, Match wanted to build their national brand to grow their early talent pipeline by going virtual and creating a reliable stream of diverse, qualified candidates who wanted to work in Boston.

1. More Top-of-Funnel Talent

Match needed to identify and engage a large enough pipeline of talent early in their search to fill their open positions and overcome the employee churn common in education.

2. Increased Diversity

Match looked to hire qualified candidates of diverse ethnic, social, and ideological backgrounds to mirror and complement the diversity of the students at their Boston charter public school.

3. Expanded Branch Reach

Match wanted to grow their brand beyond its Northeast footprint to reach talented recruits nationwide with an interest in education and willingness to work in Boston.

“Handshake is game-changing. It has changed the entire way we recruit by giving us a platform to reach talent clear across the country.”
